Introduction

Today, 32 Community Health Centers throughout the state of Michigan provide quality, comprehensive, community-oriented primary healthcare for more than 500,000 patients annually at 160 sites.

“Health Center” is a broad term for a diverse range of public and non-profit organizations and programs that focus on improving the health of individual patients and their communities by providing high-quality, affordable primary care and preventive services. Nationwide, they are the health care home for over 18 million patients.

Each Health Center’s staffing models, facilities, scope of services, and approaches are tailored to meet the unique needs of its patients and the surrounding communities. Many individuals have difficulty accessing medical care because of where they live, the language they speak, and their complex health care needs. Health Centers provide culturally appropriate health care that is close to where patients live, at times that are convenient, and in languages the patients can understand.

Health Centers have professionally trained health care teams. These teams may include board-certified or board-eligible physicians, nurses, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, certified nurse midwives, medical assistants, mental health and substance abuse professionals, dentists, and dental hygienists. The clinicians of each team work together to provide a core of primary health services to individuals and families throughout all life stages, from pediatric through geriatric.

Four types of Health Centers as described below are funded under Section 330 of the Public Health Service Act. These Health Centers may also be called Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) and they must meet the following requirements:

-Be located in or serve a Medically Underserved Area/Population (M UA or MUP) as designated by the Health Resources and Services Administration; these are areas where health care is needed but scarce

-Operate under a patient-majority board of directors

-Provide comprehensive primary health, oral, and mental health/substance abuse services, as well as supportive services such as translation and transportation services that promote access to health care, to everyone in the community in all stages of the life cycle

-Provide services without regard for patients’ ability to pay or insurance status

-Charge the uninsured for services on a sliding-fee scale that is based on patients’ family size and income
